A001    Acquire and Maintain Cultural, Artistic, and Historic Collections

The Museum Collection and the Library/Archives Departments manage the collection of art, artifacts, and archival material in three disciplines: Fine Art, Regional History, and American Indian and other cultures. These departments collaborate with discipline curators and outside partners to acquire material that reflects the cultural, artistic, and historic development of eastern Washington. They are responsible for the preservation, documentation, access, security, and legal transactions for over 65,000 objects, 400,000 photographs, 10,000 books, and 4,200 lineal feet of archival material. Library/Archives serves over 1,800 patrons annually and provides research resources for museum staff. An average of 1,000 objects from its permanent collection are prepared for and maintained on exhibition each year in exhibition space and in the historic mansion, Campbell House. In addition, the Museum Collection Department will oversee 3,500 items from the U.S. Air Force, representing the development of air and space technology in the Inland Northwest.

The actual number of records and inventory updates entered into the agency's collection management inventory system is much higher than projected for FY03 & FY04 due to grant funding that was used to hire additional part-time staff to update inventory records. Because this grant funding has been fully expended, the inventory updates figures are anticipated to decrease. The actual numbers may rise if additional grant revenues are secured.

D001 Creation and Management of Cultural Resource Data

This activity manages a number of databases and official registers of archaeological sites and historic places, including the State Archaeological Database, Washington-state component of the National Register of Historic Places, and the Washington Heritage Register (the state compliment to the National Register). These inventories and registers are used by the general public, local governments for GMA planning purposes, federal and state agencies for compliance with Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act and the National Environmental Policy Act, Tribes for compliance with Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act and National Environmental Policy Act, and all levels of government agencies and Tribes for compliance with the State Environmental Policy Act. DNR uses archaeological database to ensure that archaeological sites aren't impacted by Forest Practices.

The Eastern Washington State Historical Society (EWSHS) develops and implements an array of educational programs for the benefit of adults, families, educators, and school groups. It conducts over 150 programs, lectures, and events annually that interpret and enhance visual art, regional history, or American Indian and other cultural exhibitions. EWSHS also supplements the state's K-12 curriculum to meet the Essential Academic Learning Requirements for art, state and national history, and social studies. The museum also offers a range of community activities, such as Family MAC Fest which reaches over 10,000 adults and children; artists-in-residence programs which reach nearly 5,000 visitors; and an ArtFest festival which reaches over 35,000 individuals, with a local economic impact of over $500,000. EWSHS partners with six colleges and universities to share facilities, staff, and programs to enhance learning for students and area residents.

By 2013, State Parks will receive 100 park improvement gifts ("100 Connections" identified in the Centennial 2013 Plan) from community supporters. By June 30, 2007, park rangers will have a catalog that they can hand out to potential partners that describe the costs, plans, and benefits of the "100 Connections" projects. At least 20 projects will be completed and another 30 are underway. To help people understand the value of the state's natural and cultural heritage, each state park area will host at least monthly interpretive programs, events, or recreational opportunities seasonally that satisfy an ever-growing number of park visitors by June 30, 2007. This activity also contributes to the occupancy rate measure listed with the Park Reservation System activity.

Providing recreational opportunities on agency-owned land and other state-owned lands is a priority for the department in order to maximize the value of department-issued licenses and permits. To further increase the value of such licenses and permits, the department often enters into agreements with private landowners to provide other access points for hunting, fishing, and wildlife viewing opportunities. Specific activities relate to developing and maintaining landowner access agreements, including feel free to hunt, hunt by permission, and road management arrangements.

D003 Preserving and Enhancing Historic Places

Under the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 (NHPA) and complimentary authority under state law, this activity provides technical and financial assistance to 35 local governments certified by the National Park Service as eligible for federal assistance. This activity also conducts the technical review and approval of applications for federal tax incentives related to rehabilitation of historic properties. In addition, DAHP develops a statewide historic preservation plan every five years. DAHP also reviews the historic preservation component of historic preservation plans developed under GMA.

The establishment of Certified Local Governments, in conjunction with the federal tax incentive program, and the state special valuation property tax program, has created million of dollars of investment in historic properties listed on the National Register of Historic Places or local heritage registers for the state program. DAHP assists with establishing Certified Local Governments, and providing technical assistance to those specially designated local historic preservation commissions. DAHP lists properties on the National Register of Historic Places so that properties can take advantage of the federal tax incentive program and is required to review tax incentive applications to ensure the work meets federal historic rehabilitation standards.

D002 Protecting Archaeological and Historic Resources

Under state and federal law, this activity reviews proposed federal or state funded construction projects, federal licenses and/or federal permits for potential impacts on archaeological artifacts, human remains and the historic built environment. In cases where project sponsors must apply for an archaeological permit, or develop a Memorandum of Agreement governing archaeological mitigation, this activity reviews applications, establishes archaeological methodologies, identifies required conditions that must be met during construction, consults with Tribes, and, as applicable, issues state permits or signs federal agreements. When archaeological artifacts or burial sites have been disturbed, this activity conducts investigations and takes enforcement action. For historic sites: historic bridges, districts, structures, or buildings, this activity proposes the appropriate mitigation or adaptive reuse when a federally funded, licenses or permitted undertaking would have an adverse effect on the property. The activity results in the signing of a federal MOA for the historic property. This activity also works with Tribes on balancing cultural resource protection with project delivery, as well as facilitating environmental streamlining initiatives for federally funded, licensed or permitted undertakings as well as state or locally funded projects.

The Department of Archaeology and Historic Preservation prepares and reviews over 40 state archaeological permits per year. DAHP also conducts over 1800 SEPA reviews for archaeological and historic site impacts per year. Citizens have access to high quality, professional artwork in state agencies, universities, colleges, and public schools. The artwork enhances the public areas where people live, work, and study; expresses diverse cultures; and provides a visual response to the criteria developed by the citizens who select it. Individual artists are supported through the purchase of existing work and commission of new work. The program increases awareness of, and participation in, the state art collection by the public, and preserves the state's investment in the state art collection through conservation. In Fiscal Year 2004, the target was another 30 artworks acquired for the state art collection and at least another 85 artworks preserved.
