

Blue Mountain Action Council (A Partner of the Washington Service Corps)

If you are seeking to be challenged, have fun and create positive change this program is for you! BMAC AmeriCorps seeks to address crucial needs throughout the Walla Walla valley. The local team-based chapter offers 22 positions seeking committed talented individuals to invest their lives in changing community. We have several exciting projects to choose from: provide tutoring and behavioral support for academically and socially at-risk children and youth; youth and family advocacies; volunteer recruitment, and environmental education.

On non-school days excluding weekends, AmeriCorps members receive training, plan service projects, and recruit volunteers to help them carry out the projects. The service projects vary from picking up litter on an adopted section of highway to sorting food at the local food warehouse that later distributes it to the local emergency food pantries.

Prompt regular attendance is critical and crucial. Individuals must be flexible, have a positive attitude, be punctual, and have a passion to serve and work with children, youth and adults; bilingual is a plus, but not necessary.
